

Authentic

January 3, 2021

In an ideal life, what we say and do would be consistent with what we think and feel.

By inner voice, I don't mean the relentless mental chatter of self-criticism and rumination that many of us live with. We have to learn how to block out all that mental noise and strain to hear our own inner voice of wisdom.